OPEN HOUSE 1977

Sister Mary Audrey, Dean of Admissions, and the members of her staff are preparing for a busy and informative afternoon, Sunday, November 13, 1977, for all who will visit the campus during the Open House hours, 1-4 p.m. There were over one thousand persons who visited the Newport Campus during Open House in 1975 and 1976.

All Academic Department chairpersons and faculty members will be on hand to meet and chat with perspective students and their parents. Lists of locations where faculty members will be holding their half-hour sessions have been widely distributed throughout the college. Each area of study will hold three half-hour sessions at 1:30 p.m., 2:15 p.m., and 3:00 p.m. in the rooms listed.

Student hosts/hostesses are a major factor in making the Open House the success it has been in recent years. The College Administration appreciates the cooperation of these student volunteers.

COLLEGE COMMUNITY APPROACHES GOAL IN UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN

As the weekly bulletin goes to press, success in this United Way Campaign is assured -- ALMOST.

Still needed are the returns from two solicitors and a second appeal to those who have not given. With returns in from thirteen of the fifteen solicitors amounting to $3,672, SRC's goal of 15% growth over 1976 is well on the way to being realized.

Reports are presently being prepared that will analyze participation and dollar giving among the various college constituencies. It was reported earlier that the housekeepers had reached 99% participation in giving. The maintenance staff with Jim Cunningham as solicitor also reached 99% in participation. Security, solicitor

Wayne Carlike reached 82% of full participation. Returns are still coming in from administration, faculty and administrative and secretarial staff. The next few days are critical and will make the difference between Success-ALMOST and Success-ATTAINED!

If you have not given to United Way, give it a second thought and count YOURSELF among the people who care.

WALL HANGING DISPLAYS PRESIDENTIAL MEDALLION

A commissioned hanging designed by Sister Maria Edward, R.S.M., artist and Sister of Mercy from Hartford, Connecticut graces the North Wall of the Great Hall in Ochre Court.

Working from the design of the Presidential Medallion that was presented to Sister Lucille McKillop by the Board of Trustees at the 1976 Commencement, Sister Maria Edward has transferred the medallion from pewter to tapestry.

Fashioned on cut velvet with vertical lines predominating that lead one's eye upward, the woven design of the Presidential Medallion is focal to the viewer. The stylized cross with fine bars beneath represents the historic emblem of the Sisters of Mercy, the book of wisdom and the lamp of learning expresses the learning and teaching mission of Salve Regina College, Newport, Rhode Island.

The Book of Wisdom is without writing and symbolizes the as yet, unwritten book of each student's life.

Two shades of green are readily observable; olive green representing the teaching Christ and young green symbolizing new life in its formative stages. The blue that is pronounced in the design and in the tassels was chosen to represent the college's closeness to the sea, and also because in liturgical art the color blue symbolizes integrity and wholeness. The graceful, full tassels are made from Lope yarn from Iceland.

Jewel-like diamonds within the circles symbolize the Sisters of Mercy as women concerned with interior life lived within the context of community.

The four divisions of the lower part of the fabric represent the four Gospels and the eight small bells, each a different tone, symbolize the beatitudes. The thought of the artist is that each of us is sounded only when we are touched and therefore, the bells are placed within hands reach.

The hanging was placed in its permanent setting on Friday, November 4, 1977.

SALVE REGINA'S SYMPOSIUM ON JUSTICE AND PEACE

By: Reverend Edward Kelly, C.S. Sp.

The decision has been made that all of Salve's academic energies during the 1977-78 academic year are to be centered especially on the theme of Justice and Peace. This means that every effort is to be made at every level that administration, faculty, staff and students be sensitized to the deep meaning and pervasive consequences that justice and peace must have in any genuinely Christian response to the realities of the world both domestic and global.

This decision was arrived at as a part of the growing consciousness of the Catholic Church throughout the world that socio-economic and political issues must indeed be matter for Christian interest, concern and involvement. Perhaps the clearest call to this type of Christian activity was that of the Synod of Bishops of 1971 when they wrote: "Action on behalf of justice and participation in the transformation of the world fully appear to us as a constitutive dimension of the preaching of the Gospel, or, in other words, of the Church's mission for the redemption of the human race and its liberation from every oppressive situation." This call, in turn, was only the further clarification of the positive position vis-a-vis the secular world which the Church declared for itself in the second Vatican Council, especially in such documents as the Constitution on the Church and the Constitution on the Church in the Modern World. Throughout the documents of Vatican II we find a highly developed and acute sense of the social obligations of Christianity. This new articulation of the responsibility of the Christian to seek justice and peace for the world by way of concrete action in the political and economic aspects of life is both a response to the increasing socialization of the world and an opposition to the insidious doctrine of the privatization of religion. This is the culmination of a process begun as long ago as 1891 when Pope Leo XIII wrote Rerum Novarum, a critical analysis of the injustices of capitalism and a declaration of the rights of the working man.

The initial implementation of the College's decision in favor of education to justice and peace consisted in the constitution of a committee to draw up a concrete program extending over the course of the academic year. The administration, faculty and staff were introduced to the program on September 1 when they heard two talks. Mr. Edward J. Holland of the Center of Concern, Washington, DC, spoke on the global issues of justice and peace; and Dr. Joseph Fahey, Director of the Program in Peace Studies at Manhattan College, spoke on "Catholic Social Principles in Higher Education."

Then the students were introduced to the program by way of three dinner/lectures. The procedure was that each faculty member would invite a student to attend each dinner/lecture. On October 25 Dr. Paul Joseph of the Sociology Department of Tufts University spoke on "Peace and Justice in American Life." On November 5 Reverend Roland Murphy, an internationally renowned scripture scholar of the Divinity School of Duke University, lectured on "Justice in the Bible." And on February 15 the guest speaker will be Sister Mary Emil Penet, Professor of Social Ethics of Weston School of Theology, who will address herself to the topic "A Moralism Looks at the New International Economic Order."

The conclusion of the year-long symposium will take place on March 7, 8, and 9, 1978. Classes will be suspended to give the complete College community the opportunity to attend the lecture series scheduled for those three days. Four renowned lecturers will treat various aspects of the total question of Justice and Peace. Dr. Fahey of Manhattan College will present "A Christian View of a Just World Order." Dr. Gene Sharp of Harvard University will deal with "Christians Facing War, Genocide, Dictatorship, and Systems of Political Oppression." Dr. Gregory Baum of the University of Toronto will talk about "Christians Facing the Challenge of Marxism." And Sister Marie Augusta Neal of Emmanuel College will treat the subject of "Christians Facing Third World Peoples." There will be two reactors for each lecture, one from the Newport Naval War College and one from the Salve Regina faculty, who will offer specific responses to the lecturer's presentation, thereby directing the subject to further discussion and questioning.

This climax of the symposium promises to be a rewarding intellectual experience -- an in-depth exposure by recognized experts to the central issues of justice and peace which call for educated Christian consideration and concern. It is hoped that the entire Salve Regina College community will participate in it to the fullest extent possible. On-going information will be presented in the SRC Newsbulletin and posted on campus.

The Lord is a God of justice
Who is no respecter of persons.
He shows no respect of persons to the detriment of a poor man,
He hears the cry of the oppressed.
(Ecclesiasticus, 35: 12-13)

Faculty in the News

The Early American Society has presented Sister Ann Nelson with a Merit Award in recognition of outstanding achievement by the development of a full credit course in the history of Newport. The last sentence of the citation which was presented to Sister Ann reads as follows: "Sister Ann Nelson has helped further the spirit of accomplishment in the art and skill of Early American Craftsmanship."

The Salve Community wishes to congratulate Sister Ann for the interest she has shown in this field.

Mr. David Jorgensen of the Art Department has a drawing in the 66th American Annual Exhibition at the Art Association of Newport. The show runs until November 13, 1977. The gallery is open weekdays from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sundays and holidays from 2 to 5 p.m.

Members of Psychology Department Attend Conferences

On Friday, November 4, Mr. Dennis Hill, Ms. Mary Brabeck and Brother Jack Childs attended a workshop on the educational and clinical application of behavior therapy techniques sponsored by Child and Family Services of Newport County. Beth Creager, a part-time member of the Psychology Department helped organize the workshop. Students from Salve also attended, among them Kathy Anderson and Peggy Duffy.

On Saturday, November 5, Mr. Hill, Ms. Brabeck, and Br. Childs went to Clark University, Worcester, Massachusetts to attend the New England Psychological Association Annual Meeting and Conference and to hear, among others, Dr. B. F. Skinner speak on "Why I am not a Cognitive Psychologist." Dr. Michael Brabeck, Mrs. Darlene Hill and Mrs. Betty Hanawalt, a graduate student from Salve, also attended as invited guests.
